“ To Pete and Artie. I wanted to let you know how much your Father meant to me. He worked at PDI for about a year on a migrant grant for DVR. We became comfortable work associates and Art remained doing other work for PDI after the grant. I came to know Art better when we spent afternoons for a year trying to drum Spanish into my head. The following year your Dad went to Washington DC for a Credit Union meeting, I believe, and brought me back a mug from the Native American Museum which I still have. We have stayed in touch since then. Art would come by once or twice a year and visit or I would see him in the mall. It was always a highlight for me. I am so sorry to have missed his memorial. I had appointments scheduled that could not be reschedule, but I wanted you both to know what treasure your Dad was in my life. He will be deeply missed. “ What a fine man! You shared many stories with me over the years about your past - oh, so funny, as well as I did with you about my past, and you were such a kind and caring person. You had so much knowledge about Pueblo! We had lots of good laughs and good times and I will never forget all those good times - at the mall, at the Riverwalk, etc. My niece, Nikki, always said you were "so cute". You were a crutch to me and gave me good advice and encouragement, and you were part of my "cheering squad" at C&B at the mall. Thank you! When I saw you a few weeks ago, you were so happy that you received a "clean bill of health" -- and the next thing I heard is that you passed away. What a shock! I only hope you didn't have to suffer and that you are now resting in peace. No more pain, no more worries about blood pressure, no more doctors. The angels have opened their arms and welcomed you, and they have received a very special person to join them. Sorry I won't be able to attend your service, but I will be thinking of you! You will be missed, my friend! Lee Poll

“ I had the privilege of knowing art for many years. He was truly a fine role model for young professionals in the pueblo community back in the day. when I was starting my ptactics as a psychological he was very supportive and encouraging. I knew art through the years and he was always down to earth and proud of his culture. He helped many people. He will be remembered as a very good person who treat every one fair. He will be missed.
