“ The last time I talked to you and saw you I appreciate everything and all the words that you said to me when you were hauling stuff away from my house for your wife I appreciate the words and the kindness you showed me that day. It made me feel a little bit better about the situation I know you felt bad because you told me you didn't want to be there but it wasn't up to you and it wasn't up to me you did what you were told I'm sorry you had to endure the stress of this past year and a half it was not yours to stress about it nobody had the right to make you stress over it I straight away to make sure there was no stress I never brought it, it was always brought into to me and I'm glad you realize that because that's exactly what you told me amongst other things and you drove away that day I felt so bad for you because I knew what you had to endure when you got home with all the the 20 questions and all the negativity. It's a lot to handle especially when it weighs a relationship down and I'm sorry that they put that on you and your relationship. I know now you had a huge weight lifted off of you and you're flying with the rest of the Angels I know you will continue to look over your children and family and do the best you can to always protect them. You were a good person you had a good heart at least with me whenever I would talk to you and no one else was there you always gave me a little bit of Hope but everything will be alright and turn out just fine thank you Tim. We wish we would have had the opportunity to see you and let you know but you already did know that we're not mad at you we have no ill-will towards anybody there's good in everybody it's just selfishness takes over. My children lost not just you today but half of their entire family. I know you know that we wished we can attend your funeral I am sorry that we cannot but we will always have you in her heart and your mind I'm sure you and I will have a few conversations in the future. I take a big sigh in relief knowing you are safe and at home safe with no worries end. Serenity has been talking about missing going to lowrider shows car shows with you and her grandma quite some time now I've been hearing about it for like 2 months she's been talking about it . she knew. Serenity knew.
