“ Guys I'm so sorry I was not able to be there through this tough tough time. Just wanted to let you know that my heart is absolutely shattered for all of you. Just unbelievable how this can happen to such a good person.

The last time I was able to see him was when my mom passed away. He was so grown and came up to me and hugged me and introduced himself to my husband so respectfully. Completely surprised me how grown of a man he had become. Told me his memory of my mom was when he was giving her a ride and she punked him for his candy. Too funny!! Just can't believe you could be gone so soon. Love you all so much. Please stay strong, keep in touch. Love you
