My brother Clarence, I my heart is broken, but I know you are flying with the angels right now so it brings me peace to know this. You will be missed by me and many thank you for teaching me so much and always being there for my sister and the kids and grandchildren. R.I.P

“ We are so sorry for your loss and sorry that we are not able to be with our family at this most grievous time. We are praying for God to give comfort to Clarence’s family and friends as only He can. We will always remember Clarence to be good-natured and amiable. It is truly a blessing to be a part of his life. Evelyn recalls that one time when Clarence was young and he was “acting up” a bit someone asked him, “Are you ornery? Clarence replied, “No, I’m Clarence.”
