“ Dearest Alyssa I just received the tragic news about Cody. I am so incredibly sorry and feel deeply for you. Cody was such a kind man and more than anything I know he was your soulmate. My father always said how he brought out the twinkle in your eyes, not to mention, how much he brightened everyone else’s day. My father loved when he came to the house and they would have their talks. I remember you telling me about Cody when you first were going out. I could see how happy he made you. I also remember when you first bought Elmer to the house(I still have photos) and he sat on my mom’s bed with her. Cody’s face lit up with joy and pride. Although I don’t have tons of memories with Cody, I can only imagine what you have lost in some relatable way. It completely breaks you into pieces and crushes your heart. It’s simply the worst lonely experience you can go through in life. I want you to know though that I’m here for you if ever you need someone who will really listen and do my best to help you. I remember people tended to get on with their lives while yours is still going backwards. I know Cody will give you the strength to carry on and lean on others for support and help. I am praying for you and thinking of you with lots of love and hope to help you eventually heal your heart. Love you dearly Sarah Suardini

“Cody’s father Dennis and I are best friends, and have always been so close that we always told people we were brothers. Cody lived in New Mexico for most of his life, then he came to Denver, at his father’s request.

Dennis was so very proud of all that Cody accomplished, and he would share how amazing it was for them to share first Dennis’s Trucking business, and then just the time shared between father and son.

When Dennis shared the passing of his son last week, he was so very devastated. It crushed me to hear this for Dennis has lost more than his son. He lost a partner and friend as well.

I’m numb, as I now live in Texas, far away from my brother, Dennis.

I hope that the friends and family hold each other close, support each other, and love on each other. This is a loss that can’t be explained. Cody was a good man, a strong man, and a kind man. And the memories of this young man, are memories that can help heal the pain we are all experiencing.

I would like to offer a prayer.

Father God, In the midst of my sorrow and grief, I turn to You, the source of all comfort and peace. I am overwhelmed by the weight of my emotions and the pain of my loss. I feel lost and broken, and I desperately need Your presence to bring me solace.

Lord, grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to face this grief with faith, and the wisdom to find moments of peace amidst the storm of my emotions. Help me to remember that You are with me, even in the darkest moments, holding me in Your loving embrace.

Please grant me the strength to carry this burden, knowing that You are carrying it with me. May Your peace, which surpasses all understanding, guard my heart and mind in Christ Jesus.

As I navigate this journey of grief, may Your light shine through the cracks in my broken heart, reminding me of Your eternal love and the promise of a reunion beyond this life. Help me to find comfort in the memories of my loved one and the knowledge that they are in Your loving care.

Lord, I surrender my pain, my confusion, and my questions to You. Fill me with Your peace that transcends circumstances, and help me to trust in Your perfect plan. In Jesus' name, I pray.

Amen.
