“ I was her neighbor next-door. I was fortunate enough to know her in the last days of her life. And rather she was telling me stories of her heyday, or she was teasing me for either having a slice of pizza in my hand or a beer she was always smiling. She was the most kindest of souls. drag that God takes a good ones. Because when he took Debbie, he took the best of the best. I don't know very many people, my friend. But I was proud and honored to call her my friend and she will be missed again. I hope she keeps a spot underneath a tree in God's kingdom empty for me. Rest easy my friend.
