“ My son was the most amazing little person on this earth. No matter what he got into his mom was always there to save him from the minute he was born he was a spoiled child he had jaundice like most babies do and the doctor wanted to put him on a papoose board which were he had to be strapped down for a certain amount of hours per day so he can get UV light to help his bilirubin count every single time I strapped him down he cried bloody murder it broke my heart so of course of it as his mom I took him out laid him down in front of the window and made sure he got all the UV sun he needed without confining him. Within a matter of time he was better.

I really wish I could of done the same thing to help my son again. The best thing i could do is just be there for him, just like he asked me to do. "Mom, dont leave me" and I never did. I love you son and you will be missed beyond words. I love you to Infinity and beyond.

“ Jake was full of life.....he was so sweet and kind. The first thing I noticed about him the first time I met him was his pinkish hair and his bright pink phone....he loved to laugh and had quite the sense of humor. I hope he is up there laughing with Jesus now... no more pain buddy, only joy
