“ Auntie Obie, memories flood in and as life changes you will always be one of those who I know will always be with me. I love you so much and I am forever grateful for the kindness and gentleness you showed me. When I wanted to give up you gave your words and time to push me out of all that. I will live each day for the both of us... I will Carry you in my heart and love others the way you loved me. Rest peacefully

“ Obie, you will always be my very best friend. I've never had a friend like you and never will again. I can't seem to put our friendship into words, you weren't just my oldest friend or even like a sister to me, you were in a class all your own. You have always had a place in my heart. You are irreplaceable, and I'm filled with sadness and regret for all of the lost time. I love you Always and Forever. Shanna

“ Some friends become closer than blood, and I can say with all my heart that Obrina was my sister. I dont like the term "was", because in my heart you will always be alive. The times we shared were both great and sometimes hard, but we were always there for one another. Ride or die was a term that we used to call one another and I know if I needed you, you would be there within minutes to comfort, support, and or protect me. I will cherish every memory jamming to oldies, walking from one end of Pueblo to the other lol, and just being goofy. Even when we didn't have much sometimes but a few backpacks, no shelter, and some Ramen noodles (dry) for food- those are the times that are the most precious to me. In the valleys or the mountain tops you stayed the same no matter the circumstance. I love you Obie, till we meet again my beautiful Sis.
