“ I met Phyllis at church and she became a dear friend of mine. She knew the Bible, loved the Lord, and was sure of her salvation. So I know Phyllis is with Jesus now and I will see her again someday. She loved her family so much and had more friends across town than anyone would ever know. She would give her last dollar to help someone in need. She loved Elvis' gospel music and picked out special songs to play before our services each Sunday. I plan to continue her tradition in honor of her. I will miss her daily phone calls and never forget her kindness to me. My prayers and deepest condolences are for Phyllis' family - I know you miss her but what she wanted most for each of you is to come to faith in Jesus alone and go to church with her. She loved and loves you all so much - because love never dies. His bless and comfort you all.

“ Phyllis was the sweetest soul and the best grandma. She helped babysit and raise almost every single one of her grandkids. I will miss seeing her ringing her bell at Walmart and having short talks with her. We all love her and will miss her. She is with Jesus now and for that reason alone, her family can take comfort. Sending love to all her family 🥺🙏 Mandy Avalos
