Just today I found out about your passing. Angelo messaged me and it hurts that I didn't know so I could've said goodbye. Renee you were the first friend I got to know at PCC. We had a few computer classes together. You were always late or missed a day. I remember when you sat right next to me and ask for any notes that I could give you and that's how our friendship began, lol. We had some fun times in class, always laughing and one teacher would always say "Settle down girls" the whole class knew who she was talking to. I always thought she was going to separate us, lol. Thank you for being so sweet and being my friend. Love you my friend R.I.P till we met again.
