“ I first met Sharon back in the mid to late 70's when she and her family moved in across the street from my family. At that time, I was approximately 10 years old and in the 5th grade. I was so excited that a new family was moving in across from us. My goal was of course to find out if they had any kids that I could play with! Sharon moved in with her then husband Dr. Jones and her three kids from her marriage to Jim Bechtle. She had Greg, Pam and Staci. Come to find out Staci was close to my age about 2 years younger, but close enough.

Little did I know that I just wanted to meet and gain a new friend but instead, I met a new family that became my second family. For several years Staci and me were inseparable. We did everything together. We would eat dinner at my house at like 4:00 p.m. so after school because my family ate early, and then we would go with her family out to eat when Sharon and Dr. Jones got off of work, usually around 7:00 p.m.

Sharon always welcomed me like a second mother. I have many fond memories of the years we spent together. From Sharon buying me and Staci real baby diapers and bottles for our Chrissy dolls that we both had, to the trips out of town, to the sleep over nights when we would curl up on the couch with Sharon and watch old western movies.

Eventually as we grew up and grew apart I lost contact with Sharon and she eventually moved back to Springfield where her family was from. I still had those many fond memories to carry with me throughout my life and I can't help but think that in some ways she was a role model in my life. She has always had a special place in my heart and it is very sad to know that she has gone, but I thank God that he did not let her suffer anymore!

I will deeply miss her and my condolences go out to Staci and her family along with all of the Hunter family. Staci, just know how much she meant not only to me but to many people and please if you or your family need anything, do not hesitate to ask me. I love you and your family very much!

As I look at the picture of her that was used I see that more and more Staci is looking like her mother and that she has the same kind spirit as her mother did. She has grown into a wonderful person and I am glad that she is my best friend and "sister" forever!

Love you all ! Shane Ammeter and family
